"A DEGREE AND WHAT ELSE?"

Many young people graduating from high school this year have decided against going to college. It has become almost fashionable to argue that college offers few if any economic benefits and for that reason it is better to get a head start in the world of work.

Why do we assume that colleges and universities exist primarily to serve the economy rather than education and people? Karl Marx argued that man is essentially an economic animal. Feuerbach insisted that man is simply what he eats. But should we agree as we advise young people who are planning their futures?

College is worthwhile regardless of its economic impact. But just to set the record straight, we might refer our young people to the report of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education entitled A Degree and What Else? written by Stephen Withey and associates. This study documents not only that college graduates continue to make more money but that they enjoy a less erratic job history. They start with higher salaries, suffer less unemployment, and are promoted more often. Their chances for alternative employment are better. Their retirement benefits, insurance, vacations and other fringe benefits are usually much better and they do a better job providing for their children. Most important they are more satisfied with their work.

The non-economic benefits of college are equally important. They accrue not only to us as individuals but to society as a whole. Colleges provide the entire country with the skilled professionals it must have—from doctors and social workers to business men and entrepreneurs who create new jobs. College graduates carry out a disproportionately large part of all voluntary charitable work in this country. They are also likely to be good citizens. They are better informed on the issues, more likely to register and vote, less influenced by prejudices and stereotypes, and also less likely to employ irrational and violent solutions to social problems. This is what led H. C. Wells to observe that "human history is a race between education and catastrophe."

The college educated enjoy better mental and physical health, spend more on health care and preventive medicine, have lower divorce rates, and are better able financially and psychologically to provide for themselves when divorced, without public assistance. These facts and others documented by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities in a booklet entitled The Value of College Education should make us think twice about the advice we are giving to young people today—and about the advice we neglect to give!

Liberal Arts education has often made its greatest contributions to society to those

Carter Appointed Director Of Institutional Relations

President Blumer announced recently that Henry M. Carter, 45, director of development at Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va., since 1969, has been named director of institutional relations at Lycoming College, effective August 1.

Dr. Blumer said one of Carter's first major projects after arriving at Lycoming on August 1 will be to conduct a capital gifts campaign to finance construction of a new physical education complex and possibly a fine arts building.

Carter, a 1953 graduate of Randolph-Macon, was headmaster at Bollingbrook Day School in Petersburg, Va., for seven years before joining the staff at his alma mater in 1966 as director of public relations. He had previously served as head of the English department and director of the summer school at Cradock High School, Portsmouth, Va., from 1954-59. He was named director of the annual gift program at Randolph-Macon in 1968 and a year later was promoted to his present position.

During Carter's association with Randolph-Macon's development program, the college received gifts totaling $7,300,000, including $3,600,000 in capital gifts, while alumni participation increased from 20 per cent in 1968-69 to 32 per cent in 1975-76. In the same period of eight years, gifts received through annual fund giving tripled and Randolph-Macon received two national awards for excellence in fund-raising programs.

The new Lycoming director of institutional relations is a member of The United Methodist Church, the Hanover Country Club, the Petersburg Country Club, the Petersburg Cotillion, and the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education. He has had a number of articles published in periodicals and magazines, and has received several awards for "exceptional achievement" in the field of public relations and development.

Summer Conferences

Approximately 325 delegates arrived on the Lycoming College campus Sunday, May 21, to attend the United Methodist Upper Atlantic Regional School of Christian Missions which opened the annual summer schedule of clinics and conferences at Lycoming.

William L. Baker, business manager, said the six-day conference will be the first of approximately a dozen sessions scheduled to use the college facilities during the months of June, July and August. In addition, students will be on campus for a six-week summer school session to be held from June 6 to July 15, and four freshman orientation groups will be hosted on June 19-21, June 26-28, July 31-August 2 and August 3-5.

The United Methodist Church conference will be followed on July 3-5 by the Pennsylvania Miss National Teen-Ager Pageant. A youth ALUMNI PLEASE NOTE!

Inflation and increasing costs have made it necessary to restructure and, in most instances, increase our fee schedule for 1977-78. The transcript fee will be $3 per transcript beginning September 1, 1977. This fee was increased, in part, to make it possible to issue transcripts without charge to all full-time students.

Federal regulations require that requests for transcripts must be in writing and signed by the person whose record is requested.

The Lycoming College Report is not published in July or August. The next issue will probably reach you in late September.

In the meantime, have a good summer, a pleasant vacation or whatever activity you enjoy.

periods when it was least appreciated. Today is such a time. How long has it been since you talked to a young person--perhaps a niece or nephew, grandchild, or even one of your own children--about attending college? It might be the best thing you ever did for them! You might suggest a visit to Lycoming. We'd be happy to help them prepare for a future with real promise. At Lycoming we have something special to offer and we would like your family to benefit.

Out of the Past: Harvard's Elliott on Alumni Support

Sometime near the end of his amazing forty-year career as president of Harvard, Charles W. Elliott observed the following:

"It is, of course, largely by the extent of the support accorded to a college by its own graduates that the world judges the right of that college to seek cooperation of others in planning its future. An institution that cannot rally to its financial assistance the men (Harvard was strictly a male institution then) who have taken its degrees and whose diploma is their passport into the world is in a poor position to ask assistance from others. It is not merely what alumni give; it is the fact that they do give that is of supreme importance."

In 1975, 13% of our alumni contributed to the Lycoming College Fund with unrestricted gifts. Last year, almost 19% contributed, an increase of 6%.

Another 6% increase will put our participation at 25%--better than the national average--and a real boost in helping meet our $100,000 goal for '77. Meeting this goal is very important! The College needs this amount to help meet the increasing costs of operating the institution. The College needs your demonstration of confidence in its future. Finally, this goal will put Lycoming on track to eventually receive the level of support many other similar institutions have been enjoying.

WENRICH GREEN, Assistant Director of Admissions, and ERNEST GIGLIO, department of Political Science, were members of a panel discussing "Sex is a Touchy Subject" at a conference jointly sponsored by The North Central Library District, West Branch Chapter, PLA, and the Susquehanna Library Cooperative held at the Geisinger Medical Center on April 27, 1977.

ROGER SHIPLEY, art department, was selected by the U.S. Jaycees as an Outstanding Young Man of America for 1977, in recognition of outstanding professional achievement, superior leadership ability, and exceptional service to the community.

CHARLES WEYANT, director of Library Services, has been nominated for the position of Vice-Chairperson/Chairperson Elect of the College and Research Division, Pennsylvania Library Association. Also, Mr. Weyant recently attended an intensive two-day workshop sponsored by the State Library of Pennsylvania on the subject of Grantsmanship.

OCTAVIA H. HUGHES, assistant professor of art at Lycoming College, has been appointed as a Columbia University-Rockefeller Foundation Fellow for the 1977-78 academic year.

Miss Hughes will use the appointment to continue work on her doctoral dissertation on Benjamin Champney, a 19th Century American landscape painter. She will study at Columbia under Dr. Barbara Novak, an outstanding authority on 19th Century American painting.

Miss Hughes received her bachelor of arts degree in history and literature at Radcliffe and her master's from Columbia. Before joining the faculty at Lycoming in 1971, she was associated with the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston. She was also a lecturer on architecture and the decorative arts at centers for adult education in Cambridge and Boston.

JAN E. HARRIS '78, chemistry major, has been appointed to the Fall 1977 Undergraduate Research Participation Program at Argonne National Laboratory. His research project will be "Monitoring Atmosphere Hydrocarbons by Gas Chromatography."

CLASS news

Edited by DALE V. BOWER '59

1922

The 55th reunion meeting of the Class of 1922 was held on April 30, 1977 at Lycoming College. Present were: SAM MACONAGHY, WALTER CANON, WILLIAM KEESE and DOROTHY ROGERS BERNHARDT. Mrs. Maconaghy and Mrs. Keese were present as guests. Bill Keese read a letter from two classmates who were unable to be present, namely GRANVILLE FRISBIE of Santee, CA, and MILDRED NICHOLSON McTAGUE of Cresson, PA. A list of those present at our 50th reunion was read by Bill Keese. It was noted that three of them - Earnest Hammaker, J. M. Reed and J. Milton Rogers are deceased. Snapshots of the 50th reunion were passed around. Elected to serve as class chairman and secretary was Dorothy Rogers Bernhardt. Bill Keese was elected to serve as class agent for the alumni fund project or program. The list of living members furnished by the alumni association was read and commented upon. Current addresses were noted. Pictures of those present were taken on several individual cameras. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned at 2:35 pm with the unanimous hope that we will be able to meet again in 1982.

1927

The Class of 1927 had a great 50th reunion on April 30, 1977. Those who attended the reunion filled out questionnaires, and others who could not be there, wrote letters. It is from these sources that the following information was obtained:

DAVID LARRABEE could not attend the reunion, as his last heart attack of 1970 kept him from traveling that distance. Dave lives in Chevy Chase, MD.

CLARENCE BRISCOE lives on Hilton Head Island in South Carolina. He is now retired as Emeritus Gynecologist & Obstetrician to the Pennsylvania Hospital (the nation's first hospital) and is also Emeritus Associate Clinical Professor at the School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania. He and his wife of 36 years enjoy visits from many friends, their three children and four grandchildren. Although he did not get back for the reunion, his thoughts were with his many friends from old seminary days.

HENRY J. MULLER is living in Leesburg, FL. He retired from the ministry in 1969 having served 43 years, mostly in the Baltimore Conference of The United Methodist Church. He still keeps busy in a minor way in the churches of his area. He reports that he still has a full head of hair that refuses to turn white.

GILBERT S. MacVAUGH is a psychologist living in Chevy Chase, MD. In July, Pergamon Press, Inc., will publish his book, Frigidity: All You Should Know About Its Cure. This is a complete audio-visual teaching text, with 100 color slides and twelve cassettes, to teach other psycho-therapists what Dr. MacVaugh has been doing in curing frigidity with hypnosis.

FOSTER L. PANNEBAKER has been living in Bloomsburg, PA since his retirement from the Methodist ministry in 1964, after serving 39 years throughout the conference. His son LEE '59, celebrated his 25th class reunion at the same time Foster celebrated his 50th.

GLADYS DECKER STOHRER lives in Whitesboro, NY. She says, "I'm really into both arts and crafts -- both doing and teaching! I'm doing what I always planned to do and loving it -- that's happiness." She has four grandchildren. Her husband died in 1975. Gladys has exhibited her work in group and one-man shows on numerous occasions.

JANE CASTNER DERR HENNINGER lives in Williamsport. For hobbies, she enjoys landscape painting and pottery. It was quite easy for her to attend the reunion at the College.

RUTH REES BARRIE lives in Coudersport, PA. She wrote the following to her friends in the Class of '27: "Ruth Rees, the gal who struggled with her one-year commercial class - whose teacher - dear Mrs. Allen, said - 'Miss Rees, I think you would enjoy working in an attorney's office' - Ruth almost in tears said she would never work in an attorney's office. But can you imagine she worked for over 20 years in an attorney's office - part time court stenographer - secretary to the Secretary of the Commonwealth and judge. They say life begins at 40 - so she changed her occupation and worked in the Citizens Bank for over 20 years. Married to a Scot - both retired. Hobbies: trimming pine - garden-travel-organ-Presbyterian Church work. God has been good to us as we have good health and happiness - and we wish all of you the same."

VIRGINIA GRAHAM MILNER lives in Astoria, Long Island, NY. After graduating from the Western Reserve University Medical Center, she served for 25 years as a therapeutic dietician. She is now retired.

MAE BRUBAKER WOOD lives in La Jolla, CA. For the past ten years she has traveled extensively to all parts of the world, especially Asia, the most interesting to her. She has always done a tremendous amount of work in volunteer organizations having held offices in many, both cultural and working. She's interested in art, travel, people and books. Over the years she has been a school teacher and worked in the admissions department of a hospital. She has a son & a daughter.

MYRA WHITE LONBERGER attended her reunion coming all the way from Sun City, AZ. Over the years, she and her husband have lived in New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, DC, Oklahoma and Massachusetts. Since their two daughters live in the southwest, they chose to retire in that area and are very happy there. Myra's Mother, Bessie White, known and loved by so many alumni is living in a nursing home near Myra.

WILLIAM E. GLOSSER lives in Wyomissing, PA. He is a graduate of Albright College and the University of Pennsylvania where he received his M.D. degree. He has been a physician since 1935, practicing in Reading, PA. His son, WILLIAM, III '60 and daughter VIRGINIA '68, are Lyco graduates.

GEORGE M. GIBSON lives in Burnham. He retired from the Mifflin Co. School District as an industrial arts teacher in 1946.

HELEN REECE lives in Dumont, NJ. She holds a master's degree from Cornell University, and prior to her retirement, was chairman of the mathematics department of Northern Valley Regional High School. Her niece, DONNA REECE ROBBINS, graduated in the Class of 1962 from Lycoming.

LENA OLMSTEAD BEAL lives in South Williamsport. She is active in her church, St. Mark's Lutheran, and in other clubs and organizations. She tells other members of her class, "Keep smiling with a song in your heart."

MARGARET CORNELLY MacNAB lives in Rochester, NY and is historian for the town of Brighton. She is a 1933 graduate of Bucknell University and has done graduate work at Penn State and Middlebury. She is still active in research and writing and will continue as secretary to the Class of 1927.

MIRIAM HAEFNER CANON lives in Willow Grove, PA. Her son, HARRY, and daughter, VERNA, are alums of Lycoming. Her husband, HARRY '22, celebrated his 55th reunion on campus the same day.

LETTY McCOMB LYKENS had an exhibition of portraits displayed in the New Cumberland public library. Letty also has portraits hanging in museums in Texas, Maryland, Missouri and Pennsylvania. She and her husband, LARRY '39, live in New Cumberland.

1949

ANDY ZECHA stopped by the alumni office recently. He and Helen came back to the United States and have settled in Delaware. He has set up a company of his own (U. S. A. Corporation) to do international consulting work and to represent Asian manufacturers in the U. S. He is also a part-time lecturer on management subjects in the graduate M.B.A. program at Wilmington College. Their daughter, ANGELYN '73, is married to CRAIG RUSSELL '74 and lives in Dewart, PA. Andy's son, Anthony, is a junior at Bucknell where he is majoring in Physics. Andy expects to be at Lycoming College in 1979 to attend the 30th reunion of the Class of 1949, which has the great honor of being the first graduating class of Lycoming College! He is interested in having the entire class attend and is anxious to do anything possible to promote this 100% attendance. He would be happy to hear from other members of the class. The alumni office can furnish his address upon request.
